

Resources for Help

For most updated list of Journal-listed Christian Science nurses, use the online Christian Science Journal directory at <http://journal.christianscience.com/directory>.

Local Senior Centers are often a good resource for help and each state has a 211 program for resources that are available. Meals on Wheels throughout America at <http://www.mealsonwheelsamerica.org/signup/aboutmealsonwheels/find-programs>

National Christian Science Resources:

- The National Fund for Christian Science Nursing is a financial resource that can assist in situations where a Christian Science nurse is needed. They help with grants for Christian Science nursing care in a facility or at home and Christian Science practitioner fees during that time. <http://nfcscn.org/>
- The Organization of Residential Homes is a resource that has helped senior Christian Scientists with residential living since 1973. <https://christiansciencehomes.org/>
- The National Christian Science Care Database is a list of resources for those seeking various kinds of care options within a Christian Science context. <http://www.ncscd.com/>
- Riper Years is a resource that helps senior Christian Scientists with information on housing, personal or household assistance, Christian Science nursing and care facilities, insurance, legal issues related to health care, and more.
